DEFENSE INTRODUCED EXPERT WHO TESTIFIED THIS AFTERNOON

He Made the Strongest Witness Yet Introduced by the Defendant--His Testimony Was Very Technical--It Is Now Believed the Case Will be Concluded by Thursday Evening.

The interest in the Lingafelter case is manifestly very great. The court room is comfortably filled with spectators at every morning session, while in the afternoons the crowds are immense. The attorneys of the city take a special interest in the case and may be seen among the spectators at both sessions.

Since the beginning of the examination of the witnesses for the defense, the course of the defendant's attorneys is more clearly shown. The defense by the testimony of Tuesday endeavored to show that the signing of the questioned receipts and orders, if not done by the person bearing the name of the signature, (in this case Theo. Taylor), was done by some clerk or employee of the bank, other than Robert Lingafelter. It was in this connection that the testimony was introduced regarding the Dr. Spec check, signed by John Moore with the name of James F. Lingafelter.

On the other hand the prosecution, after proving by the witnesses, that the signatures are forgeries, attempts to show by the handwriting, that Robert Lingafelter wrote the names in question, particularly that of Theo. Taylor.

In the Wednesday morning testimony of the defense's witnesses, an attempt was made to prove an alibi, to prove that during the entire week in which these alleged crimes are supposed to have taken place, Robert Lingafelter and his wife were in Columbus.

Edward Williams occupied the stand late in the afternoon Tuesday, and was engaged by the prosecutor in the comparison of signatures on the various papers in question.

George Kureth, a shoe clerk, was called following Mr. Williams. He testified that he thought he was familiar with the hand writing of Robert Lingafelter.

"How many times have you ever seen Robert write?"

"I don't know the exact number."

"What did you see him write?"

"He made entries in my book."

"That consisted in putting down figures, didn't it?"

"Yes, and a signature."

"Only the name 'Lingafelter' signed though?"

"Well, yes."

"Was there any opportunity you had of familiarizing yourself with Robert's hand writing other than these?"

"He once made out an insurance policy to me."

The receipts and orders in question were then shown to this witness who gave varied opinions on them. At the close of the examination the witness stated that he would not say positively that the bodies of any of the orders or receipts were in the hand writing of Robert Lingafelter.

The next witness was C. C. Beckman, of Jackson street, a grocer. Mr. Beckman testified that he had seen defendant write both in his pass book at the bank, and on insurance policies. Several of the papers admitted to be in Robert Lingafelter's handwriting could not be identified by the witness.

Harry C. Alsdorf testified that he was in the employ of Robert Lingafelter in 1900, 1901 and 1902, and was familiar with the writing of the defendant. The same list of orders and receipts were presented to the witness whose testimony was given without any hesitation but with varying opinions as to the hand writing on the papers in question.

Charles Brown, a brother-in-law of the defendant was next called.

"I believe you have said that you are a brother-in-law of Robert Lingafelter?"

"Yes."

"You have seen him write?"

"You have never seen him write to imitate the hand writing of anyone else have you?"

"No, sir," was the answer.

The receipt and order testimony was gone over, for the purpose of testing the knowledge of the witness regarding the writing of Robert Lingafelter. Order 3194 was shown the witness who stated that it was not in Robert Lingafelter's hand writing. This order was introduced earlier in the case as the genuine writing of Robert Lingafelter and made out by him.

Edgar Follett was next witness to

DRASIC AND VERY STRENNOUS

IS THIS MEASURE FOR CREATING A STATE FRANCHISE COMMISSION?

Millions Will be at Stake for Corporations Under Proposed Powers of the Commission.

Columbus, Feb. 14.—In the senate this afternoon Howe, of Cuyahoga, introduced a bill creating a state franchise law commission. It was inspired by Mayor Johnson of Cleveland. He, with Newton D. Baker, city solicitor of Cleveland, Howe and several other close friends have been working on it for several months. As a legislative trouble maker it will complete release the municipal code bill by Metzger and the Stockwell street railway franchise bill and the Howe board for review ripper. Millions are at stake for corporations under this measure. The bill is exhaustive and technical. It provides for a commission of three appointed by the governor, called the "State Franchise Tax Commission." It shall ascertain the actual value of public and quasi-public service corporations in Ohio. From this value the commission shall deduct the tangible value on which each of the companies pay taxes under present laws. Upon the remaining value of difference between the selling value of the bonds and the stocks of the companies and the value of their tangible property shall be levied a tax of six tenths of one per cent, or six dollars on every thousand such value.

Every taxpayer in Ohio pays at present on an average of $25.30 on every thousand of property held by him. Howe says: "This bill does not repeal the Willis or Cole laws or the inheritance tax. It is simply designed to relieve the taxpayers in the 88 counties in the state of the burden of paying $2,800,000 which they are now paying, toward the expenses of the state government. It taxes property which, heretofore, has gone untaxed. The widest possible latitude is allowed the commission in the matter of determining what is the actual market value of the property of the corporations enjoying public privileges. It also gives extraordinary powers in summoning witnesses and the production of books and papers. It may commit to jail persons refusing to testify or produce records."

William Moran, aged 18, of Bellvue, Ky., was the first witness to be called Wednesday morning. The witness was employed around the office of the defendant in Cincinnati. He testified regarding the arrest of Robert Lingafelter by the two detectives, stating that no conversation took place between the detectives and the prisoner, on the way from the office to the street entrance, as testified by the detectives. During cross examination the witness stated that at the time of the arrest, there were only Mr. Lingafelter and himself in the office, and later stated that two lady customers were present.

Again, the witness contradicted himself regarding the station of the two detectives. First, the witness stated that one of the detectives remained in the hall while the other stepped in the office and made the arrest; later he stated that both detectives entered the office.

He testified that when the detectives made the arrest, they had a warrant. The detectives themselves testified that they had no warrant, merely a telegram from the sheriff of Licking county, ordering his arrest.

This witness was followed by Catherine Hendry of Columbus, an aunt of the defendant. She testified that in September, 1899, during the Licking county fair, when a number of these questioned receipts were dated, the defendant visited her at her home in Columbus. She also stated that the witness was in New York and Pennsylvania during the year previous.

"Were you in New York with him?" asked Judge Hunter on cross examination.

"No sir, I was not."

"Then how do you know he was there?"

"Because I received a letter from his wife."

The statement that he was in New York at the time was then objected to, as evidence, on the grounds that the witness did not know but only

May be Sent to Re-Enforce the Army in the Philippines.

PEORIA, Ill., Feb. 14.—Sensational developments in the case of Dr. George H. Simmons, the banker-preacher, who killed himself a week ago, were made in the probate court when the widow asked the appointment of an administrator of the estate. Her statement showed that her husband had dissipated $9,000 she held at the time of their marriage giving her worthless notes representing the amount. Mrs. Simmons further said her husband had destroyed all his private papers, will etc., a few hours before his death.

RIO GRANDE roundhouse at Ridgeway, Colo., and two engines, together with much other property in the building, were burned. Loss $100,000.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—There are now about 5,000 Philippine scouts distributed through the archipelago, and some of the army officers here who have commanded them in the Philippines are strongly of the opinion that properly officered by Americans they would be admirably suited for Chinese service if any American forces were needed there.

It was stated at the war department Tuesday that the expediency of ordering another regiment to the Philippines in addition to the two infantry regiments and two field batteries already en route is now under consideration, but a decision has not yet been reached.

BASEBALL COMPANY ORGANIZED

Joseph H. Moser Was Chosen President of the Company Which is Composed of Prominent Business and Professional Men.

The first meeting of the Newark baseball company was held Tuesday night at the office of City Auditor Frank T. Maurath and an organization effected. Joseph R. Moser, one of the largest stockholders in the company, was chosen president of the new organization and will direct the management of the club.

The whole organization was a direct blow at the former owner-manager of the team, as he was only given an honorary position, that of vice-president and business manager. Another stockholder was made secretary and treasurer and through him all business will be transacted and all news will be made public.

No development in the baseball situation during the past few weeks will be more popular with the fans than this one point. There has been considerable dissatisfaction among the lovers of the sport since early last season. An effort was made last fall to get a stock company together but when it was found that the former manager held the franchise for the next season, the matter was dropped as but few were willing to take stock in such an organization as long as the former management would control the team.

The business men now connected with the baseball company insures the success of the team without a doubt. All are conservative business men, and above all, they believe that publicity is the life of the game and as soon as the organization was perfected, the newspaper men were communicated with at once and no effort was made to keep any news "under cover."

The organization is as follows: President—Joseph R. Moser. Vice Pres.—Cap. Hayes. Secretary and Treasurer—J. W. Rutledge.

Field Manager—George A. Bates. Executive Board—J. R. Moser, Cap. Hayes, J. W. Rutledge, Dr. J. G. Bowers and P. B. Smythe.

Board of Directors—C. L. V. Holtz, C. N. Browne, J. R. Moser, W. W. Maholm, O. A. Vogelmeier.

The Building and Park Committee—F. T. Maurath, W. W. Maholm, Hayes and J. R. Moser.

The stock of the company is divided into 50 shares of $100 each. Already there have been more applications for stock in the company than could be supplied, which goes to show that the venture is considered a good one in Newark, especially when conservative business men give their financial support to it.

Mr. Rutledge, as secretary treasurer of the organization was authorized to make public all news in connection

CHIEF LEARNED MORE IN ONE SEASON THAN OTHERS LEARNED IN YEARS

Cotton Bates—During his baseball career, I found that you must have the newspapers with you to make a success of the game."

His Serene Majesty—Do you think I will lose any money because two little — newspapers go "messin' round?"

Cotton Bates has had a number of years experience in the baseball business while His Majesty finally succeeded in worrying through last season, his first. What a vast amount of knowledge the King must have gained through one short season of experience. He gained more in all this time than any other baseball man has been able to gain in years and years of experience. It is truly wonderful what a vast amount of knowledge of things baseball is stored in that magnificent think tank.

A new league was organized a few weeks ago to be called the Ohio and Pennsylvania league. The success of this infant organization lies to a large extent with the press in the circuit. Every manager in every other city in the circuit realizes and admits this. Newark's Big Chief believes otherwise. The sporting writers of the two Newark dailies do not pretend to say that the baseball business in Newark can not be run without their support. However, the support of the two dailies will go a great way towards making the success a big one.

Both local papers are willing and anxious to boost the Newark club. The people at the head of the organization will not assist in this boosting. Therefore the Newark club will have to sail without any assistance from the papers. The Ohio and Pennsylvania league will be boosted as long as there are two clubs in the organization, and both local writers are regretting that they are not permitted to boost their home club.

PERCY STETLER FOR NEW CASTLE

BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECT ALTOONA MAN TO LEAD TEAM TO VICTORY.

Baseball Gossip From Iowa In O. & P. Circuit Cleaned from Exchanges.

Percy Stetler of Altoona, Pa., will manage the New Castle team of the O. & P. league. This question which has been a source of great worry to the New Castle fans for the past few weeks, in fact since the New Castle club was admitted to the new league. Now that it is settled, baseball things at New Castle will settle down and the new manager will make things hum. Here's to Percy Stetler. Newark believes him a good man and wishes him all success. May New Castle finish the season just below Castro's finish the season just below Newark. The wish expressed here. We will finish near the top too.

Thirty Men at Mansfield.
Up at Mansfield the report is being circulated that thirty men are signed for the O. & P. club. Just what positions on the diamond these thirty men are to occupy, is not stated. It is hardly fair to the players to sign more than three times as many players as will be retained for the season. McVey, Mansfield's manager, is a hustler, though, and it's a safe bet that he will make baseball a success in Mansfield if such a thing is possible.

Calls 'Em Cheap.
Down Newark way things are doing. There promises to be a hot rivalry on there in the baseball world in the season of 1906. Newark is a member of the O. & P. league. The O. & P. management in that city is having trouble with the promoters of an independent team. An attempt is being made by a few cheap sports there to put a team in the field that will kill the O. & P. league team. Akron Press.

Favors Early Opening.

Marty Hogan, manager of the Youngstown team, is in favor of opening the O. & P. league season on April 29. April 29 falls on Sunday and it is thought that the season could be opened in the southern end of the circuit in Zanesville, Newark and Lancaster.

The Akron team will probably open on home Thursday, May 3. Several minor practice games may be played by local clubs before the opening, but these games will have nothing to do with the league schedule. President Morton has written to all the managers in the league asking for an opinion on the opening date.

Billy Phyle Again.

A meeting of the magnates of the Southern league will be held the last of this month and Billy Phyle, on the black list in that league, a member of the Youngstown team of the O. & P. league last season, looks for his case to be considered. He stated last week that he would not write to the president of the league drawing attention to his case, and from that it seems that he is well satisfied with his position as an outlaw.

BATES HAVING TROUBLE WITH GRUBBS AND CORNELIUS.

The sporting editor of the Advocate has received another letter from Manager "Cotton" Bates of the Newark club of the O. & P. league in which several bits of baseball news are found. First, Bates again defines his position regarding the giving out of baseball news. He says:

"I will be able to give a list of all my players in two weeks more, so you can publish them before any outside paper has printed the list. Newark fans will have the news concerning their team first."

Other extracts from the letter follow. "I am having trouble with Pitchers Grubbs and Cornelius. Both of these men asked for terms and were given contracts. Canton claims Grubbs. I sent a contract to Cornelius and he then replied that he had signed with Columbia, S. C., of the South Atlantic league. I will make a fight for both men. I have notified President Morton and Secretary Farrell of the cases and President Morton will look after Newark's interests in the matter."

Regarding the Brennan who was reported as a Newark signer, that was an error, as he is on Newark, N. J., list of players signed. Irvin Wrennen refuses to sign a Newark contract on the terms I named, but I am not worrying about that, as I have a man signed who will cover that territory to the entire satisfaction of the Newark fans. Davis' signed contract has been received and Joe Doyle has forwarded a contract but it has not yet been returned.

"All the rest of the men who have signed Newark contracts will be new to the fans of Newark."

What a vastly different plan is practiced by Bates and the Newark Chief. The field manager asserts his position and backs up the opinion by practicing what he preaches. The information contained in the above letter was not written for the purpose of getting into print but for the purpose of boosting the game. Bates knows that publicity is the life of the game and tries to inject new life into the game here in Newark.

Central League Umpires.
Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 14.—President Carson of the Central Baseball league announced the appointment of umpires. The men named are Charles Rigler, Mt. Vernon, O.; Wallace Whealock, Marlborough, Mass.; Phil Bonner, a Porte, Ind.; W. L. Pfeiffer, Coshocton, O. Rigler was on the staff last season, and Whealock pitched for Canton part of the season.

OHIO STATE THREW STONES WHILE IN A CRYSTAL HOUSE

Ohio State has at last awakened to the fact that there might have been "taunted" football players in their squad last fall. A meeting of the O.S.U. athletic board was held Monday when Coach Sweetland and Graduate Manager Vernon Davis were present. Both men aired their troubles before the board and it develops that perhaps one professor and several alumni may have been "go-between" of the athletic management and certain football players whom it is alleged received pay for their services. These may be asked about their connection with the affair.

Sweetland presented affidavits from Kirby, Lantry and Spencer, three men in question, that they never received money nor were they made special inducement to come to Ohio State and play football. The matter of officials was the chief bone of contention between Davis and Sweetland. Four games last fall, Sweetland declares, were made unsatisfactory owing to poor officials which Davis selected against his wishes. The Denison game in which Lawrence officiated was one. Hatfield's work in the Wooster game, that of Harris in the Indiana game, were other incidents.

It is probable that another meeting of the board will be held tonight and a further probing be made. It appears that taking the cue from the early spring season there may be a thorough housecleaning now.

Coach Sweetland wants the matter settled at once. He stated the other day that he would like to get away from Ohio State at once if he could do so without injury to athletes at the university and himself.

There is not a bit of possibility of his being back here next fall, according to his own statement. Sweetland figures that a losing team would be the cause for a louder protest than ever and nothing but an absolute winner of everything could please the present student body, affairs being as they are. He has no position in view. He had the Ohio Wesleyan position offered him before Bingham was hired. Sweetland says that the reports that he has had negotiations with Purdue are unfounded and that he is just now interested in settling the middle at Ohio State before going further.

HOWE SAYS HE CAN PROVE HIS CHARGES

The National Trotting association will investigate the charges made in the Lou Dillon case. This action was urged by David Bonner at the meeting of the association in New York Monday. Bonner was formerly vice president of the association and is one of the country's leading horsemen.

Murray Howe, who made the charges, declares he is ready to prove every word he has said and that he has additional testimony which will cause a big sensation.

Smathers Recovers Cup.

New York, Feb. 14.—E. K. Smathers, the trotting horse owner against whom a suit has been brought in the New York supreme court by Secretary Murray Howe of the Memphis, Tenn., racing association for the return of the gold championship cup awarded him by that association when with Major Delmar he defeated Lou Dillon in October, 1904, recovered possession of the cup by depositing a bond for $7,000 with Sheriff Hayes. Smathers will retain possession of the trophy pending the settlement of the suit against him for its return to the Memphis racing association.

HADLEY HAS CASE ALREADY COMPLETE

And Gives Up Attempt to Get Rockefellers' and Rogers' Testimony. Says He Doesn't Need It.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 14.—Herbert S. Hadley, attorney general for Missouri, will give up the attempt to compel John D. Rockefeller or H. H. Rogers to testify in his suits to oust the Standard Oil company from Missouri. At the conclusion of his examination here yesterday afternoon he announced that his case was complete and that he needed no further evidence and "while Rockefeller and Rogers probably have a guilty knowledge of the doings in Missouri, they had no actual means of knowing that Missouri had been divided by the three companies as it has. I am well satisfied that we have sufficient evidence to convict the Standard now."

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, leaves something if the head is crowned with straight hair. Straight and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed.

Newron's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamp for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

County Salary Legislation.

There can be no question that the salaries of county officials in the large counties like Hamilton, Cuyahoga, Lucas, Franklin, etc., are too high, and should be reduced, but the amount of salaries and fees of officers in counties like Licking and others is not excessive when the quality of ability required by the office and the time and expense consumed in getting the office are taken into consideration. Cheap salaries would make cheap officials, and the importance of the duties imposed upon Auditors, Treasurers, Probate Judges, etc., require salaries of sufficient inducement to get able and capable men to fill the positions.

To properly establish a uniform standard of salaries and fees for all county offices is a more difficult problem than the casual reader may imagine. Investigation will show that neither population nor taxable property will furnish a proper basis for an official's compensation. That should be based on the work done, and the work alone does not depend wholly on the population or the wealth of a given county, as can be easily demonstrated over and over again.

While it might seem fair to public county officials like Auditor, Commissioners, etc., who do business for the whole county in the aggregate, on a salary, to be paid by the tax-payers in general, it is difficult to see why a county officer like a Recorder, Probate Judge, Sheriff, etc., should be paid a salary by the tax-payers in general. It would seem rather that such officials as those should be paid fees by the persons actually doing business in their offices. If a man wants a deed recorded or a marriage license, he should pay for it himself, as he, and he alone, gets the benefit, and should not expect the tax-payers in general to pay for it. As the law now stands the tax-payers are not taxed to pay the salaries or fees of such officials as the County Recorder, Probate Judge, etc. But those fees are paid by the people who get the services of the official.

Again, it would not seem just if a sweeping county salary bill should be passed, embracing all county officials, to include in it the present incumbents who were elected under the present system, and have a right to expect its continuance during their term of office.

Another thing, officials who are paid by fees, have a right to, and frequently do remit those fees in the cases of widows and orphans, and others financially unable to pay them. They would have no right to do this under a salary law, but would be obliged to collect the whole fee in every case, no matter what hardship might work to the poor individual.

Finally putting all county officials on a salary was not an issue in Licking county last fall, or throughout the state outside of the large counties. This issue was a demand for reduction of the exorbitant salaries in the cities.

Everyone admits that education is necessary for good citizenship, but it must be remembered that unless the political education of voters on right lines follows the primary education, the well being of the republic must suffer. This is one reason many favor the principle of the initiative and referendum; for that process of enacting laws compels voters to think and educate themselves on the issues which are constantly arising under popular government.

The late King Christian of Denmark left a small estate, about two hundred thousand, accumulated through a number of years. The grafters in public life will wonder how the king came to neglect the opportunities they seek from morn till night.

OLD FIANCÉE TO ATTEND WEDDING

MISS BLOOMER OF CINCINNATI,
WILL SEE LONGWORTH MARRIED.

The Groom's Gift to His Bride Will be a Diamond Necklace—Cox
Sent Cut Glass Pitcher.

Cincinnati, Feb. 14.—One of the most beautiful girls at the Longworth-Roosevelt wedding will be a former fiancee of Nicholas Longworth, Miss Miriam Frances Bloomer of this city.

Miss Bloomer is a stunning girl, tall and statuesque, a striking contrast to the future Mrs. Longworth, who is slight and vivacious. Miss Bloomer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bloomer of the Alms hotel. Her father has been connected with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad many years.

The brief love affair of Representative Longworth and the beautiful Cincinnati girl was the chief topic of conversation in Cincinnati society about two years ago, when suddenly Miss Bloomer broke the engagement and went east. She was at home for the holidays this year, but left January 27 for New York. She will be accompanied to Washington by her brother, Ralph Bloomer, the famous Yale football player. Miss Bloomer's parents had the distinction of being married in the private chapel of the King of Belgium.

Mr. Longworth's gift to his bride-left Cincinnati Tuesday for Washington, having been made to order by a Cincinnati jeweler house. It is a necklace of diamonds in a novel and artistic mounting. The stones are perfectly matched and weigh about three-fourths of a carat each.

George B. Cox who, it has been reported, was bitter toward Longworth because he has not been invited to the wedding, sent a handsome cut glass water pitcher.

GOVERNOR'S HEALTH

Not in Imminent Danger, But is Such That He Cannot Take Any Active Part in Directing Legislation--Responsibility That Devolves on the General Assembly.

Columbus, Feb. 14.—Admitting that no man can foretell the future, the unpleasant fact is now manifest that at the present time there seems no remote probability that Governor John M. Pattison will be able to take any active part in directing legislation. Mr. Pattison's line is in imminent Assembly or even consulting with the leaders regarding questions of policy. The statement is made, source which must be regarded as upon the authority of a well known authentic gentleman who is as near Governor Pattison in personal relation as any party, hopes for the governor's man in the state. It is a fact that the speedy recovery, but those most important committees now realize the expectation that he will be able to situate, and they are going ahead to map out the appropriations and other, during the present session of the legislature without hoping for any advice from the chief executive. Of course some change for the better, or even some change for the worse, may be expected by the representatives of any state administration's physicians and friends, top at the capital.

AT TAYLOR HALL

The Kenyon Glee and Mandolin Club Give Enjoyable Entertainment Tuesday Evening.

One of the most unique occasions of the first season was the entertainment given by the King's Daughters of Trinity Episcopal church at Taylor Hall on Tuesday evening by the Kenyon Quartette and Mandolin club, an organization composed of about twenty young gentlemen students of Kenyon Glee and Mandolin club.

Miss Emily Gale who is starring in the new melodrama, "As Told in the Hills," is one of the best title shots in the country, having refused several offers from prominent rifle manufacturers. The encores were very frequent and the members of the club came to town and responded in good shape to each call.

After the entertainment Dr. C. P. King an alumnus of Kenyon college, invited the members of the club to an elegant banquet at Joseph Kuster's. The menu was very elaborate and carried up in the finest of style. Dr. Miss Gale and the captive, but the in-

Franklin occupied a conspicuous place at the other end of the table. Seats at which sat were included in accompanied with most excellent music rendered by members of the club. After a series of college songs, and having partaken of the splendid repast, they arose en masse and rendered in grand style "The Star Spangled Banner," after which a general social chat and smoker was indulged in. The guests were reluctant to leave the banquet hall and were very jubilant over the hospitality extended them by Dr. King.

AMENDMENT

On Which Supporters of Court Feature May Agree.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—There were indications at the meeting of the senate committee on interstate commerce that an amendment would be proposed on which supporters of the court review feature for railroad rate legislation may agree. The phrasology of the amendment has not been determined, but may be decided upon at a conference of Senators Elbridge, Aldrich and one or two others opposed to the bill as it stands. Senator Foster took an active part in the discussion by asking questions concerning the powers of the courts under the Hepburn bill, and whether it would interfere with any fundamental rights. Senator Dolliver explained the late making section of the bill, and the intention of the persons who drew it, deciding that it was the purpose to carry out the provisions of the constitution, giving the government the right to regulate interstate commerce between states.

Miss Grace P. Thurston, 22, oldest daughter of former Senator Thurston of Nebraska, died at Washington of heart trouble, following operation for appendicitis.

James Lowther, was unanimously re-elected speaker of the British house of commons.

SORES That REFUSE TO HEAL

There is no surer evidence of a poisonous, polluted condition of the blood than that manifested by a sore that refuses to heal. Every symptom suggests pollution; the discharge, the red, angry flesh, the inflammation and discoloration of surrounding parts all show that the ulcer is kept open by a constant drainage through it, of impurities from the blood.

When the blood is pure and healthy any cut, bruise or wound will heal readily; when from any cause, however, the blood has become infected with germs or poisons the place becomes a sore or ulcer, sometimes scabbing over, but never fully healing, because it is kept irritated and inflamed by the impurities in this vital fluid. Often the rough handling of a wart, mole or pimple which has never shown any sign of trouble, a slight scratch or abrasion of the skin or insignificant hurt of any character will become a sore that refuses to heal, and remains for years, eating into the surrounding flesh, resisting treatment and sometimes terminating in Cancer.

I want to recommend your S. S. to any who are in need of a remedy for an old sore. In 1871 I had my leg badly cut by a barrel hoop and having on a blue woolen stocking my leg was badly poisoned from the dye. A great sore formed and for years no one knows what I suffered with the place. Nothing would heal the ulcer and I thought I would have to go through life with a discharging, angry sore on my leg. A short while ago I commenced to use S. S. and I soon saw that the place was improving. I continued the use of it until my leg was entirely healed and I am now a well man.

and polluted that it cannot properly nourish the system, and the sore or ulcer is kept up.

Those most usually afflicted with chronic sores and ulcers are persons who have reached or passed middle life; the vitality of the blood and strength of the system have naturally begun to weaken and the poisons in the blood which perhaps have been inherited and lain dormant in the system for years cannot be as effectually held in check as in early life when the system was strong and vigorous. While the old or middle-aged are the usual sufferers, the young are not exempt if the blood becomes infected with the germs.

Salves, plasters, lotions, etc., cannot cure old sores and ulcers because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. Such treatment keeps the place clean, relieves pain and perhaps reduces the inflammation, and in this way is beneficial, but can never permanently heal them. The only treatment that can do any permanent good is a competent blood purifier, one that goes to the very root of the trouble and removes the cause, and for this purpose nothing has ever been found to equal S. S. S. It goes down to the very fountain-head of the disease, drives out all poison and morbid matter, builds up the weak, sluggish blood, gives energy and strength to the entire system, and allows the sore to heal naturally and permanently. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, being made of roots, herbs and barks possessing cleansing, healing properties, and is not only the King of blood purifiers, but the greatest of all tonics. If you have a sore that is slow in healing do not waste time with external treatment nor experiment with unknown medicines, but begin the use of S. S. S. on sores and ulcers and any medical advice desired furnished without charge to all who write.

PITIABLE SCENES ABOUT DEATHBED

Of Pretty School Teacher Who Was Fearfully Burned and Had no
Medical Attention.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Estella Smith, the pretty school teacher who was fatally burned in Zion City last Sunday by kerosene oil, died early Tuesday, surrounded by praying elders. For more than 40 hours she writhed and moaned under the terrible suffering without medical aid until death claimed her quivering body a few minutes after midnight. Around her neck and wrists her flowing night dress, which had been ignited by the flaming oil, had burned deep circles. Over the seared flesh and gaping wounds vase line had been applied, but no other material aid was given.

Conscious up to the last moment, the young woman had been continually exhorted by elders and deacons to forget pain. Even those who attended her with prayer declared she suffered extreme torture and admitted they were deeply moved by her pitiful outcries to elders and others, for medical aid. Her condition and suffering was said to have been more extreme than that of Esther Bowie, who died from a similar accident four years ago.

The cause of her death was widely discussed in Zion City Tuesday, more because of the similarity of Miss Smith's death to that of John Alexander Bowie's daughter, Deacon Chamberlain, who was an attendant at the bedside, called off the case.

"Everything was done that could possibly be done within our religion to relieve her," he said. "Dr. Sayers, one of the Aldermen of Zion City, and a former physician, gave counsel and smothered her burns in vaseline."

"Vaseline is not a drug, and the same treatment was used on Esther Bowie. Prayers have been offered continually that she might survive her terrible experience, but she had to die."

"What reason do you assign for her death?" was asked.

"The poor young woman had never uttered any pain in her life, and she did not know how to rally against the ordeal," said the deacon. "You see, if she had known what real pain was she would have been better fitted to bear up under the terrible suffering she was undergoing. It was because she did not know that she surrendered to the affliction."

An entertainment and recital will be given by Mithen Lee Barley, reader and impersonator, of Camden, N. J., assisted by musical talent, at the East Main Street M. E. church under auspices of Newark League. Admission, adults 25c, children 15c. Friday Feb. 16.

Of the Injured Chamois Hunter Was Carried Down the Mountain by His Sister.

Geneva, Feb. 11.—Anna Kurbil, aged 20 years, is the heroine of the village of Stark, in the Canton de Groton. Anna's brother Carl is a chamois hunter, and on Saturday he started on the chase. When he did not return at night his sister became frightened and at daybreak she went in search of him. After climbing 6,000 feet Anna found her brother's trail and followed it to a ledge, where he lay unconscious with a broken thigh, the result of a fall.

Anna made a splint of her alpenstock, spliced the broken leg and carried her brother down into the valley on her back.

The president of another coal road said: "We do not propose to accede to the miners' demands in any way, and do not see what else they can do but strike. They are coming to this conference to demand an eight hour day and recognition of the union, besides other things. It was clearly shown in the report of the anthracite strike commission in 1902 that the miners do not work eight hours a day, and the claim is only a disguised demand for higher rate of wages per hour, as was explained in Mr. Wickes' recent letter to Mr. Mitchell."

Scale Committee at Work.

New York, Feb. 11.—The special scale committee of the anthracite miners, numbering 36 men, held its first meeting since coming to New York, at which it took up the demands to be presented to the operators at the conference on Thursday. President Mitchell and the other members of the committee remain silent as to the exact nature of the demands to be made. It is understood, however, that the miners will put up a strong fight for a change in the methods of the board of conciliation. The mine workers are dissatisfied with the present method of settling difficulties, and say there will always be friction until a better method of settling disputes is found. There is a growing belief that if the operators will be liberal in granting concessions to the miners, the demand for the recognition of the union may not be pressed.

Vigorous Action Needed.

London, Feb. 11.—After visiting Natal, the Johannesburg correspondent of the Times telegraphed to that paper that he is inclined to take a serious view of the native troubles. The correspondent says the official bulletins give an erroneous impression because from political motives there is much eagerness to avoid bringing matters to a head. The natives have been out of hand for a long time, and the vigorous action now would bring them into a worse condition.

STRIKE FEARED IN BOTH FIELDS

Anthracite and Bituminous Operators
Discuss the Situation.

WILL NOT YIELD TO THE MEN

President Mitchell and Scale Committee Outlining Demands to Be Presented to the New York Conference. Coal Magnates Already on the Ground—Late Developments.

Pittsburg, Feb. 11.—F. L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburg Coal company, discussing the possibility of a coal strike in the bituminous fields, said that unless John Mitchell, re-convened the miners and a resolution was adopted rescinding the Ryan resolution, he regarded the suspension of production on March as inevitable. The operators, Mr. Robbins said, had made their ultimatum in the joint convention, and speaking as an officer of the National Civic Federation, that body would make no overtures for peace between the contending interests.

John H. Jones, president of the Pittsburg-Buffalo company, also gave out an interview. Mr. Jones was a member of the scale committee, and one of the floor leaders during the committee meetings. He said: "The situation looks very serious. Unless the miners' organization changes its position it is impossible to avert the most disastrous strike this country has ever seen. Before taking any hasty action the miners in this district should stop and consider that, during the past two years, the production of coal by operators recognizing union labor has decreased, whereas the production of coal by operators in this district, who do not employ union labor, has increased from 25 to 50 per cent. I have great confidence in the ability of the present officers of the miners' organization; the only thing to be feared is, will they have the courage to advise their constituents what they know to be for their best interests?"

OPERATORS

Of the Anthracite Field Discuss the Situation.

New York, Feb. 11.—Mine operators of the anthracite region, including the presidents of the coal carrying railroads and several independent operators, came to a general agreement as to the policy they will pursue at the conference. All the presidents of the anthracite roads, and a number of independent operators, are expected to be present at the conference. It is expected that the miners' committee will put forward their demands at the first meeting. The intention of the operators is then to adjourn the meeting in order to take time to consider their reply. The president of one road said that while the operators know their position, they will not reply hastily, but give due consideration to the demands of the union.

The president of another coal road said: "We do not propose to accede to the miners' demands in any way, and do not see what else they can do but strike. They are coming to this conference to demand an eight hour day and recognition of the union, besides other things. It was clearly shown in the report of the anthracite strike commission in 1902 that the miners do not work eight hours a day, and the claim is only a disguised demand for higher rate of wages per hour, as was explained in Mr. Wickes' recent letter to Mr. Mitchell."

LETTER OF FAMOUS PATHOLOGIST INTERESTS GOVERNOR DEENEEN.

Professor Zeit of Northwestern University Thinks Hoch's Victim Not Poisoned by Arsenic.

Sprigfield, Ill., Feb. 14.—Starting affidavits and information furnished Governor Deeneen in the Hoch murder case may, if substantiated, result in a pardon for the doomed prisoner. The affidavits in the case were filed late last night by Attorney Frank Connerford.

The most startling information was a voluntary contribution from Professor Robert Zeit, head of the pathological department of the Northwestern university, the first man to examine the body of the woman Hoch is accused of murdering. It came in the form of a letter to the governor, written in the "interest of justice."

Until Monday night the existence of the letter was not made public, for Professor Zeit had not consented to the use of his name in connection with the case.

The exact contents of the letter prepared by the professor is not known, for neither Attorney Connerford nor the governor felt at liberty to discuss the matter, but it is said that he makes a serious charge regarding the conduct of the Hoch case by the state's attorney's office.

This charge is to the effect that he was consulted regarding the pathological conditions surrounding the death of the dead woman and that because his opinion did not coincide with the story of the prosecution his testimony was not used.

Dr. Zeit, it is said, is the only man who examined the entire liver of the dead woman and is the only man who weighed it in the test to ascertain whether the arsenical poison had been such as to cause death.

It is also said that he found conditions which indicated that the woman's death might have been brought about by a number of causes other than poisoning, Bright's disease being among them. It is also hinted that the conditions found by the professor indicated that death was not caused by arsenical poison.

The statement is made that Professor Zeit remained silent on the subject for ethical causes and that he was induced to break his silence at the last moment only because he feared that an injustice would be done and because he felt that the governor should be informed regarding the matter.

AT MT. VERNON

Arguments Made Supporting Exceptions to Report of General Coxey's Receiver.

Mt. Vernon, O., Feb. 14.—A case that is attracting considerable interest all over the state is being heard by Judge Coyner in the Court of Common Pleas. The case is that of the Fourth National Bank of Massillon vs. The Coxey Steel and Silk Sand company, the plaintiff objecting to the report of Receiver James Israel, of the plant. It is alleged that the receiver has failed to account for money paid into his hands. Recently the steel plant was sold for $75,000 and it is alleged that the receiver only accounted for the sum of $19,000. It is also alleged that the receiver paid General J. S. Coxey, of Coxey army fame, an immense sum for traveling for the defunct company.

Arguments sustaining the exceptions were made by Attorney Baldwin of Bowling Green; C. B. Matthews of Cincinnati; Attorney Reynolds of Pittsburgh; Attorney Ramsey of Cincinnati; Attorney Carpenter of Columbus; Judge Lynch of Massillon, and John D. Ewing, of this city. The reply in behalf of the receiver was made by Judge J. B. Wright of this city. The case will continue for a day or so.

POLICE COURT.

Wesley Sutley was fined $5 and costs in police court Wednesday morning for taking a watch from Atlantic Carmichael. It was charged in an affidavit that Sutley took the watch from a chain while it was attached to a vest worn by Carmichael. Officer Charles Swank is confined to the City Hospital suffering from the effects of an operation performed Monday. He will be off duty for several weeks. A special officer will be sworn in to do duty during Swank's enforced absence.

The statement is made that Professor Zeit remained silent on the subject for ethical causes and that he was induced to break his silence at the last moment only because he feared that an injustice would be done and because Collision of Passenger Trains Occurs Below Cincinnati.

TWO PEOPLE DEAD, SIX HURT

Slippery Rails Cause a Serious Collision Between Electric Cars at Youngstown—Explosion at Xenia Home—Springfield Editor Dead. News Notes of the Buckeye State.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 14.—In a head-on collision between the New Orleans express, northbound, and local passenger train No. 3, south bound, on the Louisville & Nashville railroad at Maurice Station, three miles south of Latonia, Ky., two trainmen were killed, four trainmen injured, and two passengers received slight bruises. The dead: Engineer Peter Murphy, Louisville; Fireman Joseph Stout, Louisville. Seriously injured: W. N. Miles, flagman, Louisville, skull fractured; G. L. Mahoney, engineer, Louisville; Patrick K. Fitzgerald, conductor, Louisville; R. W. Lockwood, baggage master, Louisville, internal injuries; Mrs. Kelly Waters of Eagle Station, Ky.; Thomas G. Graves of Campbellburg.

When the train which left Cincinnati arrived at Latonia the conductor was informed that the fast train, north bound, was 15 minutes late. The engineer of the south bound train believed he could make the sliding at Maurice Station, and proceeded to that place. He was just switching into the sliding when the north bound train, which had made up the lost time, crashed into the south bound train. Both engines were badly demolished, but none of the cars were damaged.

LINGAFELTER CASE

stated from "hearsay." The court sustained the objection.

The witness was then questioned regarding the whereabouts of the defendant during the entire fair week, and the attempt of the defense to show that Robert was not in Newark during the fair, was mercilessly stumped by the prosecutor.

Mrs. Grace Lingafelter, wife of the defendant, was the third witness to be called for the defense on Wednesday morning.

Where were you at the time of the county fair in 1899?

"Where was Robert at that time?"

"We were both in Columbus."

"Where in Columbus?"

"At the home of his aunt, Mrs. Hendry."

The witness was cross questioned extensively regarding the doings of herself and the defendant when in Columbus during the fair week. She stated that they were staying at the Hendry home, and upon questioning further, the witness stated whether they had been during the stay in Columbus when not at the Hendry home, saying that they were together during the entire week. She also stated that at no other times she or the defendant visited the home of Mrs. Hendry for three or four days at a time. The bodies of various relatives and others were shown the witness who identified the hand writing of Robert on a number of them, but on others stated that she could not say. A ledger entry on the Theo. Taylor account was shown the witness who identified a part of it. The other part, dated September 27, 1899, the time of withdrawal, was said by the witness, not to resemble the handwriting of the defendant.

Two papers bearing writing claimed by the witness to be that of Robert Lingafelter, were offered by the defense as evidence to be used as a standard of comparison. The prosecution objected to the admission of the papers in evidence on the ground that they were prepared after the filing of the indictment.

The court overruled the objection and they were admitted.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

H. H. Gould a hand writing expert, of Cleveland, O., who testified in the Cassie Chadwick trial, was the first witness on Wednesday afternoon.

The witness stated that he had made an examination of the signature "Theo. Taylor," on receipt 3219, and proceeded to note the difference between the natural signature of Theo. Taylor, and the questioned one, as compared with that of Robert Lingafelter. By highly technical illustrations on a chart, the witness showed that by the use of accurate instruments the pressure of the hand and rate of speed in writing were determined and the chief differences in the writings noted.

Judge S. M. Hunter cross examined the witness. During the cross examination Judge Hunter asked the witness regarding former testimony, one case in particular at Upper Sandusky, O., was inquired about, and Judge Hunter asked the witness if the expert testifying on the opposite side disagreed with him. The witness answered that he did not get a chance to disagree with him as they confessed judgment as soon as his (the witness') testimony was given. The testimony of this witness was highly interesting and to the most important of any yet heard for the defense in the case, taking up the greater part of the afternoon.

Straight Talks on Patent Medicines

The "Rexall" Remedies deserve confidence.

As all these remedies are grouped under one name, they must succeed or fail together. There must be no weak links in this chain. One unworthy remedy would mean disaster to the entire plan. If you, for example, purchased the "Rexall" Cough Cure and were not cured by it, how could we expect you to place any faith thereafter in the "Rexall" Dyspepsia Cure or any other member of the "Rexall" family?

You can understand, therefore, why such anxious care was given to finding and choosing the remedies to which the name "Rexall" was given. We have admitted none to this circle until our committee of experts had been convinced by investigation and test that it was the best remedy known to medical science for the ailment it aimed to relieve.

Who should know better than the leading thousand druggists of this country what are, and what are not, efficient medicines?

Remember, the success of our enterprise depends on the merit of each individual remedy. Our reputation, which is our very business existence is at stake. Can you doubt, that in buying a "Rexall" Remedy, you are buying the best that science and experience can give you?

Here are three prominent members of the "Rexall" family:

REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC

REXALL DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

REXALL CHERRY JUICE COUGH SYRUP

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is largely due to the new and successful method of manufacture, whereby the well known properties of Bismuth Subnitrate and Peppermint oil have been combined with camphorates and other agents.

Bismuth Subnitrate and Peppermint oil are recognized by the entire medical profession as species for acute indigestion or chronic dyspepsia.

The Pep-in used is manufactured under a new process which develops its greatest efficiency upon the glands which supply the scalp, which prevents the judgment and development of new germs.

Pepocarpin is a well-known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease of the scalp. It is not a coloring matter or dye—it produces its effect by stimulating hairs.

The combination of the whole makes a remedy absolutely valuable to any man or woman suffering from dyspepsia—and not only a remedy, but a cure which works by gradually rebuilding and stimulating the glands which perform the digestive functions.

One spoonful will relieve the inflamed membranes and temporarily stop the cough. One bottle will work a cure. It is exceedingly pleasant to the taste—children like it. Per Bottle, 25c.

Dan Cupid's Day As It Was And as It Is Now

By WALTON WILLIAMS

Copyright, 1905, by H. E. McGRATH

JUST why St. Valentine's day is so called nobody has ever known. There were a number of "Valentines," two of them saints, but none of them is recorded to have been especially fond of flirting or sending anonymous labels through the mails. It would have seemed more appropriate to have called it Dan Cupid's day; but to us as it was used several centuries before we were born, there is no need of bothering about that now.

One theory to account for the designation is that away back in early times it was called gallant day, this being the word from which gallant is derived, and in time this was confused with Valentine, so the church tacked on the name of the saint. Another tradition is that during the reign of the Emperor Claudius II, Bishop Valentine was one of the most beloved preachers about Rome. The emperor got mad at his own wife or somebody else's wife and decreed that nobody should get married for a year. Valentine took pity on the folks and married them secretly. When Claudius learned this the bishop was promptly jailed and afterward lost his head. One legend is perhaps about us as the other, so the reader can take his choice.

The origin of the day, however, belongs to a time far more ancient than Claudius or even Rome. At about this time of year in pretty much all countries and all ages have been celebrated the returning of the sun, and the first fracture in the backbone of winter. As was proclaimed by many of the old poets, this is the season that the birds choose their mates. It is not on record that the bird songs degenerate into bad doggerel because of this fact, but that is doubtless because the feathered folk merely sing and do not send valentines.

In the far ancient times the festival was celebrated with orgies of the most shocking description, but in Rome the 15th of February, which was called the Lupercalia, was toned down to comparative respectability. There the names of the maidens, such as gay old Horace used to sing, were shaken up together and drawn by the young men of the day, and the maiden whose name was so drawn was the partner of the holder of her card for a year.

The early church could not suppress this practice, so in place of having the names of girls drawn by lot it substituted the names of saints. It was at about this time that Valentine's name was dragged into the affair. To the youth of the middle ages, however, saints were not nearly so interesting as real flesh and blood maidens, so the custom of choosing the girls' names was revived. In consequence the festival became very popular. When the age of chivalry was in full swing this most gallant of the holidays was about the biggest thing in the calendar. Why not? Love and spring poetry thrive in February, and there should be some day at about this season especially devoted to their culture.

Around St. Valentine's day grew up many other customs. One of the earliest was to permit the maidens to choose partners as well as the men. Of course the youths, maidens, were more attentive to the girls whom they had drawn than to the girls who had drawn them, but at any rate an ineffectual stage in woman's rights was in evidence. In the dissolute days of Charles II, in England the names of married people went into the pot along with those of the bachelors and spinsters. As a result that delightful old gossip, Samuel Pepys, tells of a Lord Something-or-other who spent £20 for a ring to grace the finger of somebody else's pretty young wife.

The girls were all anxious to dream of their sweethearts the night before

God's Bishop Valentine, sacred to lovers of all times and climes, who would banish him? What if his day does burden the postman? The postman is a good hearted soul and doesn't mind. He is repaid by the blushing faces and eager eyes of those his advent makes happy.

one wars the valentines sent to the soldiers and sailors were of a quality to make the hearts of the Tommy Atkins and Jack Tar of that day swell with pride. The cards that made one look like a cheap edition of a Chinese dragon or an anti-illuminated monster, with verses of the quality of Mother Goose rhymes without the Mother Goose melody, came later. Likewise the fluffy, tinted, gold and silver creations, plentifully besprinkled with hearts and containing sentimental poetry of a certain made to order air, were the product of more modern and more degenerate days. In England these are now practically things of the past. In fact, St. Valentine's day is little observed at all in the British Isles except for the giving of flowers. But it is still in vogue in America and some of the countries of continental Europe.

Years ago St. Valentine's day was very prolific of marriages. The mates then chosen were taken not simply in fun, but often for better or worse. It has been said that marriage is a lottery anyway, so what does the form of the lottery matter? If a partner for a year, why not for all the years? Thus, whatever his own history may have been, Valentine became the patron saint of matrimony. This is a very proud distinction, and we will hope that he did something to earn it. To complete the legend it is just as well to believe that he did marry the heartless Roman youths and maidens against the emperor's order and was killed for so doing, thus becoming a martyr to love. In that event it would be only poetic justice that he should be remembered by lovers for ages.

Long may his day remain with us, for while men and women are found on this old earth they will marry and be given in marriage. It is a significant fact that while all the other pagan gods are dead Cupid is still worshipped. The divinities of power, of wisdom, of war and what not have passed away, but the divinity of love is immortal. All these things grow old, but love is ever fresh and new. They expand and change, but love is the same yesterday, today and forever.

May we not hope for a like immortality for St. Valentine's day, which is distinctly the holiday of love? Even though one English paper says, "It is a forgotten anniversary," and even though much of its art halls and its verse laments, is there not enough vitality in the love it symbolizes to keep its memory living in the heart of the world? The young yet cherish it, and the young are ever with us. The privilege of sending an anonymous valentine romantic or even the anonymous valentine ugly—for there are both sorts—is too highly prized to have it die at the mere dictum of a few sleepy English papers. Dry-as-dust people from time immemorial have announced the demise of Santa Claus, and yet Santa Claus is with us. Little eyes still dance at the mention of him, and little hearts grow warm at his expected coming. Who could rob youth of all its romantic legends?

SURPRISE PARTY

Given Tuesday Evening by Members of the German Salem Church on Mr. Richard Shide.

About forty members of the German Salem church boarded an interurban car about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening and went out to the pleasant country home of Mr. Richard Shide, near the State Encampment grounds, in the Cherry Valley. The affair was in the nature of a surprise on Mr. Shide, who is one of the oldest and most faithful members of the church. Mr. Shide was found at home, and the surprise was a complete one in every particular. Mr. Shide, however, soon recovered from the shock occasioned by the unexpected visit of his friends, and devoted himself assiduously to the entertainment of his self-invited guests. The evening was most pleasantly spent in music and having a good social time generally, which was seasoned with a sumptuous supper. All who were so fortunate as to be present had a splendid time.

OBITUARY

Of Mrs. Mamie Wood Henry Will be Read With Interest by the Toledo Lady.

New Orleans, Feb. 14—Mrs. Mamie Wood Henry, the Ohio newspaper woman and the divorced wife of an author and newspaper writer in New York, will today be able to read her own obituaries in all the local newspapers. Mrs. Henry came here on the Louisville and Nashville to do some feature writing for that road, and on the way was taken with a fit of hysteria, being found unconscious in her sleeper berth here. She was sent to the Charity Hospital and yesterday morning went into a state of coma which was mistaken for death. The physicians sent in her death notice to the papers.

Later when the funeral arrangements were in progress, she suddenly regained consciousness and will recover.

Generally debilitated for years. Had sick husband. Talked and walked well, and still ran down Harvard. Blood battles made me a well woman.—Mrs. Charles Prichard, Moosup, Conn.

TAYLOR BOUND OVER IN THE SUM OF $500

Zanesville, Feb. 14.—After entering a plea of not guilty and waiving a preliminary examination in police court yesterday morning, A. L. Taylor, barber, of Cannelville, who is charged with attempting to criminally assault Mabel, the 17-year-old daughter of James H. Trout, was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500.

In the affidavit against Taylor it is alleged that the criminal assault occurred on the evening of Feb. 6 at his own home. It appears that Miss Trout was assisting in the discharge of the duties of the Taylor household while Mrs. Taylor was ill.

Taylor is a married man, according to the first report. Trout, the assailant, is a coal miner. In order to secure a speedy disposition of the preliminary action in the case it was brought in the local police court.

PROCTOR CLUB

Entertained Tuesday Evening by Mrs. John C. Brennan—Progressive Pedro Being Amusement.

Mrs. J. C. Brennan entertained the members of the Proctor club and their husbands at her home on North Fifth street on Tuesday night with cards. Progressive pedro was the game and a full attendance of the club was in evidence. The decorations were suggestive of St. Valentine's day, and bleeding hearts were purpose. The score cards were hearts for the ladies and Cupid arrows for the gentlemen. In the drawing for partners husbands and wives got well mixed to start off the game. When the scores were counted Mrs. J. P. H. Stedem, Mrs. William Young and Mrs. McWilliams each had the same number, and in the drawing for the prizes Mrs. Stedem won a beautiful Proctor souvenir silver spoon. Mrs. John Higgins was entitled to the ladies consolation prize, a cream pitcher. Mr. John Higgins was awarded the gentleman's first prize, a set of decorated wine glasses. F. M. Schimpf got the gentleman's consolation prize, a plaster cast bust of a little weeping boy. While the club was gathering they were entertained with music, both instrumental and vocal, and after the games had been played a substantial and dainty lunch was served, after which all left for their homes.

WOMEN HISS LEGISLATORS

Ohio House Rejects the Female Suffrage Proposition.

THE VOTE STOOD 66 TO 51

Harlan House Bill Taking Away from County Auditors the School Fund Fee Passes the Senate—Buckeye Senators Urged to Support Roosevelt—Legislative Proceedings.

Columbus, Feb. 14.—The senate, by a vote of 30 to 7, passed Harlan's house bill cutting off one per cent now allowed county auditors for collection of school fund, but continuing graded percentage. It is estimated that the loss of this bill will save to school fund about $100,000, which has been paid to county auditors in percentages in the past.

Bills passed by senator H. B. Mr. Hutchinson, to enable religious and benevolent societies and associations to convey burial ground to cemetery associations; S. B. Mr. Beatty, requiring that chattel mortgages after May 1 shall be filed in county recorder instead of recording clerk as heretofore; S. B. Mr. Clark, appropriating $2,000 for the loan of control for state agricultural experiment station to experiment on best method of planting and culturing trees; S. B. Mr. Hays, making the term of the judge of the superior court in Cincinnati conform to constitutional amendment adopted last fall; S. B. Mr. Lamb, limiting the jurisdiction of justices of the peace to the township in which the defendant resides or that in which the cause of action arose. Measures introduced in senate: Mr. Betty, to reduce the number of commissioners judges in the first subdivision of the third judicial district from three to two; Mr. Rathburn of Meigs, giving local boards of health power to pay expenses of delegates to meetings of state boards of health; Mr. Mahaffey of Guernsey, changing the law as to abandonment so as to provide that no person be required to furnish his or her parent with food or shelter when it shall appear that such parent so abandoned or deserted or neglected to support such person when an infant.

Senator Harper of Huron offered a resolution requiring the secretary of state, attorney general, auditor of state and treasurer of state, before January 19, 1906, to furnish the senate a complete and itemized statement of the total compensation of such officers from the state for any and all services rendered the state of any board, commission or other division, including salaries, commissions, penalties, interest upon public funds and other income for year ending November 15, 1905.

Kill Female Suffrage.

The house, 66 to 51, killed the bill of Representative Briggs of Fulton granting women the right to vote at local option elections. Prolonged debate preceded the vote. Women thronged the galleries and besieged those of the members that spoke in opposition to the bill. There were recorded for the bill 38 Republicans, 12 Democrats and one Independent, against the bill, 23 Republicans, 43 Democrats and one Independent.

Mr. O'Rourke's joint resolution requesting the senators from Ohio to support the president in the railroad rate discussion, and endorsing the Roosevelt policy, was adopted by the house.

Measures passed by the house: Senate bill, Mr. Hayes, authorizing the state board of charities to substitute biennial reports and a bulletins service for annual reports and allowing the members expense bills for attending conferences; House bill, Mr. Thomas, authorizing one mill tax levy for private hospitals having free wards.

The house committee on cities voted unanimously to recommend for passage the Metzger bill, which revolutionizes the present method of granting franchises to street railway companies, provided the franchise is submitted to a vote of the people. Council may map out a street railroad route, regardless of protests of property holders on streets of proposed route, and pass an ordinance, then give the franchise.

The house committee on labor decided to recommend favorably the Adler bill in regard to Sunday amusements. The bill provides simply that in the matter of Sunday amusements the state laws shall not apply when the voters of a city so decide.

Against Women's Suffrage.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 14—By a vote of 50 to 37, the Iowa house rejected the woman's suffrage resolution after a protracted debate. A motion for reconsideration has been filed.

A Poser.

It was at an English election meeting, and an excited man shouted to the candidate:

"Don't beat about the bush; answer my question 'Yes' or 'No'."

The candidate replied, "But, my dear sir, there are some questions which cannot be answered 'Yes' or 'No'."

The interrupter replied rudely with the single exclamation "Booth!"

"Very well," replied the speaker, "I will prove what I say. Now, sir, the question I will put to you is this: 'Have you left off beating your wife?'—New York Times.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 14—For the past two weeks the farmers in Perry township have been missing sheep and goats.
